South Georgia and south Alabama today expected to see their rivers approach normal spring stages by the end of the week, as the second flood crest within five days sloshed toward the sea.

In the meantime, however, continued inundation of the town of Newton, Ga., on the Flint river, and further traffic delays on highways and rail lines was generally regarded as certain by railroad and state highway officials.

The waters of Flint river had inundated almost all of the town of Newton and were still rising as the few remaining residents paddled about in boats.

The expected recession in the Flint at Albany failed to materialize today, as the second crest apparently merged with the first of last week, just as recession was expected.

Second Crest Due.

United States Weather Observer D. W. Brosnan said the fall of two more inches of rain today would indicate that the first high waters of the Flint would not be out of the way before the second crest came down the river. Little of Albany proper was affected, but the gas plant was put out of commission and manufacture suffered great inconvenience at the peak of the water last week.

Highway crews were busy in both states. Alabama's road construction forces expected to repair main travel arteries through the southern part of the state by tomorrow night, and Georgia's highway department announced that the departmental movement within 24 hours. Only one route to Florida was open today, and that was uncertain of passage. Others will be patched up as waters of the Ocmulgee and Oconee rivers recede in the next days, reaching and cutting off the southeastern part of the state.

Traffic approached normally in south Alabama today after some five days of hit and miss schedule. Conditions were still upset in Georgia, with expectations that main lines to Florida would be open with detouring around cities within a hour or two. Normal schedules could be maintained. At present, however, trains out of Florida were running on slow orders and, consequently, late.

Expect Recession Friday.

Although classifying flood conditions in Georgia as "intense" today, C. E. von Herrmann, of the Atlanta weather bureau, said the Chattahoochee would approach normal stages within four days, provided no more heavy rains came. With the same provision, he said the Flint would begin its recession late today and would drain within a week to ten days.

He felt, he said, that the Ocmulgee and Oconee rivers in south Georgia would have their flood stages within days, but that minor damage would be unlikely after Friday or Saturday. Georgia is drained on the southwest by the Flint and Chattahoochee, which form the Apalachicola, whose mouth is in the gulf. The Altamaha forms the northern border of the state, and drains into the Atlantic.

P. H. Smyth, of the Montgomery, Ala., weather bureau, today said the Alabama river was the sole remaining stream in the state from which higher crests could still be expected, and that it would probably reach maximum at 48 feet above normal. The Coosa already was readying to-day, and the Tombigbee, Black Warrior and Tallapoosa were expected to begin recession by nightfall, aiding railroad and highway crews a great deal.

Detours via Albany from Savannah were necessary today on account of washouts of Central of Georgia tracks

BIGGER FIELD HERE

Marshall Hoppin, of Commerce Department, says Airport Is Being Outgrown.

Recommendations that Candler field, Atlanta's municipal airport and the air mail cross-roads for the entire southeast, be improved at once to care for present air traffic, which is "rapidly outgrowing the field," and to untangle congestion on the field, were contained in a report made to the division chief of airports of the department of commerce by Marshall C. Hoppin, airport specialist of the division, it was learned here Wednesday.

Hoppin, in company with Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, made a survey of Candler field and other airport sites in February. His report, which took up Candler field in detail and commented on other proposed sites for auxiliary fields, said that Atlanta now only should complete the projected improvements at the municipal airport, but should make appropriations at once for, if not two, additional ports.

Suitable Sites Few.

After covering 75 miles looking for suitable areas for development, Mr. Hoppin found that the Tuggee and DeKalb county, three miles northeast of Atlanta and three-quarters of a mile off the Stone Mountain highway, and the Brown Mill tract, five miles southwest of the city, on Brown Mill road, were not suitable in their present condition. The Brown Mill road, he added, should not be considered as an airport site.

For Candler field, Mr. Hoppin recommended to his chief the projected municipal improvements and grading to the northwest, southwest and southeast, which would increase the northwest landing area to 3,800 feet, the north and south to 2,500 feet, the east and west to 2,000 feet, the northeast and southwest to 2,700 feet, a concrete apron 200 feet wide in front of the hangar space; leveling of the hump in front of the hangars. In addition, he stated that a roped area in front of the present hangars be installed to prevent persons from rushing on the field when a plane is taxying to the line.

Auxiliary Fields Needed.

On being interviewed regarding action of the park board in ordering a concession right to Grant and Piedmont parks to Charles L. Chosewood, Jr., in return for which Mr. Chosewood was to erect a $32,000 building, Mr. Hoppin said:

J. A. Beall, one of the bidders, filed an injunction suit in Fulton county superior court to prevent the award to Chosewood, and the injunction was granted. It is now on appeal in the high courts. The petition was filed by Walter A. Sims as attorney for Beall.

Concession Fight.

Mr. Saunders' reference to the concession fight concerned award of a five-year concession right to Grant and Piedmont parks to Charles L. Chosewood, Jr., in return for which Mr. Chosewood was to erect a $32,000 building.

A copy of the report and recommendations was mailed to Mr. Donaldson.

CONCESSION FIGHT
CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Mayor Ragsdale Calls
Order of Board "Ill-Advised."
Many Protests Are Voiced by Citizens.

Declaring that a means of operating Atlanta's municipal parks on Sunday will be found even if they are to be opened free to the public, Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, chairman of the parks committee of city council, Wednesday afternoon called a special meeting of that body for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon to consider the method to be employed.

Earlier in the day Mr. White had issued orders that all park facilities be closed beginning Sunday. This embraced golf courses, tennis courts, swimming pools, the cyclorama, pony tracks and concession stands of the various city-owned recreational systems and the mandate was predicated on a ruling of City Attorney James L. Mayson to the effect that it is unlawful to collect money for the privileges on Sundays in Georgia.

Mr. White's call of the committee was precipitated by the veritable storm of protest which poured into the city hall when it was learned that the orders had been issued to close the recreational centers to the public.

Persons from every walk of life objected to the procedure, and declared the orders an attempt to clamp on Atlanta ancient blue laws. Mayor Assails Order.

On being interviewed regarding action of the park board in ordering a concession right to Grant and Piedmont parks to Charles L. Chosewood, Jr., in return for which Mr. Chosewood was to erect a $32,000 building, Mr. Hoppin said:

"With the same force as the junior Rockefeller's array of representatives and legal counsel, came the persistent report that 'Stewart would be ousted.' So persistent were the reports that it was hinted by some that Chairman Stewart and his board of directors were preparing to resign.

The Stewart group, however, was equally persistent that such was not the case and that 'the battle is not over until the proxies are counted.'

Rockefeller, Jr., will not be on the scene, the Whiting community center, where more than 2,000 stockholders and an army of newspaper correspondents will gather tomorrow. He is on a vacation in Palestine.

Colonel Stewart, however, as chairman of the board, will open the meeting and will remain at the gavel until routine business has been completed. He then will retire from the room, turning over the chair to President E. G. Seubert and the 'battle will be hastily stepped.'

Charging that "the general public and the sufferers" under the order, which became effective yesterday, with those who had bid on concessions at the parks, Councilman William E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward and a member of the parks committee, in letter to Mr. White Wednesday stated that while he would "admit that the park situation is in a deplorable situation, on account of numerous injunctions and counter injunctions," he as a member of the committee is opposed to any drastic action being taken.

Mr. Saunders' reference to the concession fight concerned award of a five-year concession right to Grant and Piedmont parks to Charles L. Chosewood, Jr., in return for which Mr. Chosewood was to erect a $32,000 building.

J. A. Beall, one of the bidders, filed an injunction suit in Fulton county superior court to prevent the award to Chosewood, and the injunction was granted. It is now on appeal in the high courts. The petition was filed by Walter A. Sims as attorney for Beall.

In retaliation for the injunction suit, members of the park committee held a meeting for the purpose of revoking a contract for concession rights which L. O. Beall, J. A. Beall's brother, held for Piedmont and Grant parks and which he had given to Mr. Chosewood.

Included among those who entered official protests to the order were A. S. Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation of Labor; Mrs. Chester Johnson, president of the West End Woman's club; Alderman Robert E. Gandy, of the tenth ward; Councilman George Lyle, of the eleventh ward, and Councilman Harry York, of the eighth.

"We, of course, will do everything in our power to keep the system open and available for the benefit of the public," Mr. White said.

"When Mr. Mayson ruled that receipt of money for use of the privileges was illegal, the board naturally ordered them closed, pending a solution of the matter. We have called a meeting for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, and at that time will devise some means of keeping them open Sundays. It is not the intention or desire of this committee

Sacrifice of Revenue.

If the department is to operate the parks free, it will mean that one-third of the cost of maintaining the recreation privileges will be sacrificed.

If they are closed during the hot summer months, it will mean that approximately 100,000 who visit the centers every Sunday during the hot summer season will be barred from recreation, he said.

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—Congressional farm leaders are awaiting an expression from President Hoover before tackling the unsolved agricultural problem of the Coolidge administration.

There is a plain disposition at the capital to hear what Mr. Hoover has to offer and to let him lead the way in the formulation of a new program from the ashes of the dead McNary-Haugen equalization law.

The leaders do not intend to be dictated to but they are making it clear that they are willing to cooperate with the new party chieftain on this dominant issue and to have him share with themselves the responsibility for its settlement.

Awaiting a signal from the new administration, the white house is in charge of farm relief legislation at the capitol are almost marking time preparatory to the assembling of the agricultural committee of the house and senate late this month in advance of the convening of the special session.

Dr. Sam Small Is Honored
ADMIRERS PAY TRIBUTE AT DELIGHTFUL DINNER
By Members of Burns Club

With the motive of throwing flowers while the subject is alive and able to enjoy their fragrance, the Burns Club of Atlanta, Wednesday night, acted as host to Dr. Sam W. Small, of The Constitution editorial staff, at a delightful dinner at the old Burns cottage, on Confederate avenue. Old "cronies" of Dr. Small made short talks about the veteran newspaper.

man and heaped upon him the praise and tribute of real admirers.

During the evening Dr. Small told a number of anecdotes from his wide and varied experiences and paid his respects to Robert Burns the poet. In his remarks Dr. Sam W. Small, Dr. Small made the observation that there is no better work than that of the Burns club in perpetuating the memory and works of the famous poet. "If the nations had read Burns and understood him as we do, the world would be farther advanced toward universal peace and brotherhood today," he said.

Spoken in Every State.

Dr. Small said that he has spoken in every state of the United States and in every province of Canada, and that he has spoken in 85 per cent of all the counties in this country. He is perhaps the only living man who saw Jeff Davis inaugurated as president of the Confederacy. Dr. Small's son, Lincoln, was the first president of the United States, and who has shaken hands and talked with every president from James Buchanan to the present day.

Judge A. W. Cozart, of Columbus, told of having been born a few miles from Dr. Small's birthplace, Knoxville, Tenn., and related a number of incidents connected with Dr. Small's life.

John M. Graham said that Dr. Small was one of the first official stenographers of the local superior court, and that no man deserves more credit than he does for retaining the capital in Atlanta. Dr. Small's record of the debates in the constitutional convention are used in interpreting the new constitution, he said.

Tributes to Small.

Donald Boone, H. H. Cabaniss, Joseph Jacobs and others spoke in tribute to Dr. Small.

A feature of the musical program was a group of songs by Miss Hettie Higginbotham, blind girl, who won the hearts of the club members with her rendition of familiar Scotch numbers. A. W. Brownrigg, always a favorite at the club meetings, sang several selections. John Ness was at the piano.

John McCrindle, who bears the reputation of having memorized nearly all of Burns' works, delighted the gathering with the "Address to the Unseen Guest."

The dinner, as is the custom of the Burns club, was the usual culinary triumph, with the menu printed in Scotch dialect.

TRUSTEES OF MERCER VOTE NEW BUILDING | GEORGIA DOCTORS URGE TYPHOID PREVENTION

Board Decides on Law School Structure; Plan To Raise $50,000 Fund.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(AP)—The board of trustees of Mercer university, meeting on the campus today, executed several matters of business dealing with the future of the university. The report of Dr. Spright Dowell, president, was accepted in full.

The trustees decided to go ahead with a campaign for the erection of a new building for the law school. Dr. Dowell announced that T. E. Ryals, Macon attorney and chairman of the law committee of the board, has subscribed $12,500 to the building fund of $50,000. His gift carries the provision that the combined amount raised in the city of Macon, set at $25,000, shall be matched by a like gift from the rest of the state.

Dr. John D. Meek, of Athens, president of the Georgia Baptist convention, was selected as full-time leader of the campaign to secure an endowment of $2,000,000 for Mercer, as authorized by the convention meeting at Thomasville December 1.

Dr. John G. Lomax was appointed dean of the school of Christianity to assume office with the opening of the academic year in September. He will succeed Dr. P. H. Anderson, who has indicated his intention to return to China as a missionary. Dr. Anderson will remain as professor in the school until his departure. Dr. Ben C. Holzclaw, dean of the college, will take Dr. Harrison's place as professor of philosophy.

Gower Latimer's resignation as professor of Greek was accepted. Professor Latimer resigned to complete work on his doctor's degree. His successor has not yet been named. No other changes were made in the faculty.

The following were nominated to receive the honorary degree of doctor of divinity at the June commencement: J. H. Webb, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Columbia, S. C.; Milo D. Thompson, Baker, president of Atlanta, Fla.; Walter P. Binn, pastor of the First Baptist church, of LaGrange, and president of the Mercer Alumni association. Dr. James E. Paulin, Jr., of Emory university, was nominated to receive the degree of doctor of laws. These selections are contingent upon action by the Mercer faculty, and ratification by the board at its June meeting, it was said.

Dr. Albert Henry Newman, formerly professor of church history at Mercer, was elected professor emeritus. He had expected to return to Mercer, Dr. Dowell said, but was given his designation in respect for his former services here.

The principle of a fraternity row on the campus was approved and the board instructed Dr. Dowell to present plans at the next meeting. The Pan-Hellenic council, inter-fraternity group, was determined to establish a cluster of fraternity houses on the campus.

All officers of the board were re-elected for another year. They are Hugh M. Willet, of Atlanta, president; W. A. Hogan, Lincolnton, vice president; Edward S. McLean, Macon, secretary; S. J. T. Price, Mercer accountant, was elected treasurer and business manager of the board. The executive committee was re-elected, with the following members: Dr. M. A. Clark, chairman; Mr. Davis, secretary; Warren Grice, W. G. Lee, F. R. Martin, T. E. Ryals, A. R. Willingham, and Mr. Willet. All except Mr. Willet are residents of Macon.

The present debt of the university will be taken care of by interest on debentures amounting to $627,000, it was said. A budget for 1929-30, with no substantial changes, was adopted as drawn up by Mr. Price.

JUDGE HUTCHESON REMINDS RULING ON PUBLIC NOTICES

Decatur, Ga., March 6.—(Special) Judge J. B. Hutcheson, in a charge recently, delivered the following statement pertaining to qualifications of a newspaper for eligibility as a county or official medium of advertising:

"There is a law in Georgia which prescribes certain qualifications of a newspaper for eligibility as a county or official medium of advertising. One of these requirements is that a newspaper in a county where publication already is in existence must be born in the previous issue for a period of at least two years before it is qualified to publish legal advertising—at least, the notices of the clerk of superior court, the ordinary and the sheriff."

In several counties of the state, owing to poor local patronage and the prohibitive expense of equipping and maintaining a plant, the local newspapers are printed in neighboring counties, thus effecting a large saving to the publishers and at the same time enabling the locality to enjoy a weekly journal which, in many cases, devotes a small portion of the revenue necessary for its maintenance from the local town.

"The purpose of the law referred to in the opening lines of this paragraph is to prevent the itinerant printer with the proverbial shirt-tail full of types and timbered with a boy, being from going into a town and working upon the sympathies or prejudices of county officers and taking the legal advertising from the legitimate organ."

"For the first time since this statute was enacted, so far as we can ascertain, a superior court judge recently decided that a newspaper which had been born in a town where a newspaper has been published for many years is entitled to publish the legal advertising for the county."

"If the parties at immediate interest do not carry this case to the supreme court, the other newspapers of the state, as a matter of vital concern, ought to do so."

BRENAU PROFESSOR LECTURES ON BEN HILL

Gainesville, Ga., March 6.—(Special)—"The south must look forward, not backward," declared Dr. Heywood J. Pearce, Jr., professor of history at Brenau, in his first public lecture on his historical work, "Benjamin H. Hill—Secession and Reconstruction."

"There was then and Ben Hill gave Georgians at the close of the reconstruction," said Dr. Pearce, "and the south seems to have taken his advice."

"Often misunderstood, and usually on the losing side, Ben Hill was nevertheless an earnest, patriotic and clear-headed statesman, declared the historian. "He supported the confederacy vigorously and those around him weakened. He fought the carpetbag regime—and many southern leaders accepted it. At the close of reconstruction, he told southerners to forget the past and build for the future—and he was called a turncoat!"

DR. LINGLE TO SPEAK TONIGHT IN DECATUR

Decatur, Ga., March 6.—(Special) Dr. Walter L. Lingle, formerly pastor of the Atlanta First Presbyterian church, is continuing his daily services at the Decatur Presbyterian church and will speak Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock on "What It Means to Be Born Again."

He will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given in the Agnes Scott Alumnae house by 25 graduates of the Assembly Training School of Richland, Va.

He also speaks every morning at the Columbus Seminary at 10:30 o'clock.

QUAL AND PHEASANTS FOR FLOYD COUNTY

Rome, Ga., March 6.—(Special)—Because the recent success of a plan to restock the county with quail, Game Warden Charles Prokopt stated here that a project is being considered to stock Floyd county with pheasants also.

The project which is under consideration will provide for the purchase of eggs in Tennessee and "farming them out" to residents in the rural districts for hatching. Two years ago a similar method was tried with Mexican quail. The present season, which closed on March 1, opened with an abundance of the birds on hand.

I just must tell you that McCoy's Tablets are the finest things I have ever tried. I have always been thin and never found anything to do me so much good. I was disappointed in the beginning.

I weighed 104 when I began—now I weigh 115½ I praise them. I can't be without them. My limbs are picking up fine. I am singing their praises to everyone I meet. I didn't have any faith in them to start.

Signed (Mrs. W. E. Looney.)

Goodrich Tire Co. Awards Contract for $1,500,000 Cotton Mill at Thomaston

80,000-Spindle Factory and Modern Village Will Be Erected by Batson-Cook Co., West Point.

Award of the contract for construction of an 80,000-spindle mill and town site for the Goodrich Tire & Rubber company near Thomaston, was made late Wednesday afternoon, it was disclosed by officials of Robert & Co., Atlanta, designers and supervising engineers for the project. The contract, involving an expenditure in the neighborhood of $1,500,000, was awarded to the Batson-Cook company, of West Point, general contractors.

Work on the huge enterprise will be started Monday with excavation of the site. The building activities are expected to be carried on during the summer, while the mill opened for operation as soon as possible, it was stated. The project includes the 80,000-spindle mill building, warehouses and 500 cottages for employees. The industrial center, while located just outside the city limits of Thomaston, will be known as the city of Silvertown, trade name of the Goodrich Tire & Rubber Co.

Contract With Hightower.

The company already manufactures large qualities of tire fabric under contract with the Hightower mills at Thomaston. According to officials of the Robert & Co. firm, while not the largest, the state from standpoint of number of spindles, probably will be the largest producer of fabric pounds in the nation. This will be made possible through operation of solid day and night shifts, working on the manufacturing of a straight fabric product, the officials said.

Executives of the Goodrich Tire & Rubber Co., who were in Atlanta in conference with L. W. (Chip) Roberts Jr., president of Robert & Co., at award of the contract Wednesday evening, were L. W. (Chip) Roberts, vice-president and general manager; H. E. Cook, chief engineer; and R. S. Maryanski, superintendent of construction.

Came Here 2 Years Ago.

The Goodrich company began manufacture of fabrics in Georgia for its huge tire plant at Akron, Ohio, about two years ago on a contract basis with the Hightower interests, and since has steadily increasing its industrial activities here. The tire concern held an option for purchase of the Martha mill and operating 30,000 spindles. It exercised this option several months ago, buying in the neighborhood of $200,000 for the textile industry at Thomaston.

This represented the preliminary step in establishment of the Goodrich industrial center in Georgia. When the new mill and additions to Silvertown are completed, the company will be enabled to turn out 150,000 pounds of tire fabric annually. Its operations will constitute a good-sized town and will have a water supply system, with filter plant and reservoirs provided for them.

The main structure of the building, the $1,500,000 contract for which, is three stories high, with a frontage of 1,100 feet and extending back 135 feet. A two-story warehouse, measuring 400 by 120 feet, is to be constructed for storing cotton. The rest of the construction will consist mainly of building 500 houses for the workers and their families, and the city of Silvertown. The company recently acquired 450 acres of land for the enterprise.

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by overeating, the little digestive tract, such as severe belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. Georgia delegation took part in the inaugural parade, although erroneous reports were sent out that this state was not represented.

"We were fourth in the line of march in the second division and carried two large Georgia flags," Adjutant General Parker said. "Georgia was fourth in the list of the states. We were given royal treatment by the various committees and by the civilian aides assigned to us by the inaugural committee."

The Georgia delegation arrived in Washington Saturday and was received by President and Mrs. Coolidge at the white house Sunday afternoon. The governors' reception was attended Sunday night at the New Willard hotel. CABINET MEMBERS TAKE OVER OFFICES

Stimson, on Way to U. S., only Member Not Actively on Duty.

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—The reins of authority had been taken over by all the members of President Hoover's cabinet today except Henry L. Stimson, who is returning from the Philippines to be secretary of state.

The last two to be sworn in, James W. Good, as secretary of war, and Arthur M. Hyde, as secretary of agriculture, took the oath today and now all of the president's official family, except Stimson, are ready to sit around the long mahogany table when Mr. Hoover calls them together for the first time on Friday.

Until the newly confirmed secretary of state arrives, his place will be filled by Secretary Kellogg, who has consented to stay on the few weeks before Stimson's journey ends. Thus Mr. Hoover will be surrounded by a cabinet which at the outset includes three members of the Coolidge cabinet since Secretary Mellon and Secretary Davis, who had agreed to continue at the heads of the treasury and of the labor department, Secretary Good received the oath from John B. Randolph, assistant chief clerk of the war department, who has seen many secretaries assume office. The new secretary, an Iowan by birth, but of recent years a citizen of Illinois, was sworn in before a large number of official and personal friends.

Shortly afterward across the hall in the agricultural building, Secretary Hyde was sworn in by R. M. Lovett, chief clerk of the department of agriculture, before a gathering that included Mrs. Hyde, a daughter and the retiring secretary, William M. Jardine.

Presbyterian Discrimination Rule To Be Changed

Philadelphia, March 6.—(AP)—Complete elimination of discrimination against women in the membership and government of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, it was announced today, is proposed in an overture adopted by the Presbyterian general council in session.

Under Presbyterian law, the overture must be presented to the general assembly at St. Paul, Minn., May 23, and if adopted it must then go down to the 294 presbyteries on referendum. Approval by a majority of the presbyteries would make the overture effective.

The proposed change would enable women to sit with full equality with all men in all the courts, executive and administrative bodies of the church, including local church sessions, presbyteries, synods and the general assembly, and would entitle women to serve as elders, evangelists and ministers.

Creager replied that he had "never heard of it."

"It is a common practice," commented Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, "that as soon as an employee of the treasury department finds that the refund may be made, he begins to negotiate with the company interested, it is all done in secret."

Wurzbach charged that "bogus letters" were shown to President Harding in an attempt to discredit him.

"I never showed such letters to Harding," Creager said, "and I did not use them although I believe them to be authentic."

Hoover Gives Attention To Mex. Revolt, Special Session, Other Matters

Patronage, Law Enforcement and Numerous Other Questions Are Studied by President.

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—Swinging quickly into the stride of the presidency, Herbert Hoover today in Mexico, the special session of the new congress, general law enforcement, patronage and other questions.

In addition he found time to receive delegations from Arkansas and Louisiana and 31 temperance and dry organizations of the country, and to attend a formal dinner at the White House.

Without a final decision being reached, the president discussed the date for beginning the special session of congress with Representative Tison, of Connecticut, the republican leader of the house, and other members of congress. Present indications are that congress will be assembled on April 15, with the house proceeding at once with consideration of farm relief.

Worry Over Length

Senator Sackett of Kentucky and some other callers expressed apprehension concerning the ultimate length of the special session. The Kentuckian asserted that it was possible for the senate to go ahead with general legislation, such as railroad consolidation, at the regular session, with a view to having these measures ready for house action at the regular session beginning in December.

"From my talks with a number of senators, I believe they will undertake to do this," Senator Sackett said. "The president and the Senate will be faced with the special session confined to farm relief, tariff revision and the reapportionment of the house membership in accord with the 1930 census."

Appointment of the commission which is to investigate general law enforcement with a view to making recommendations designed to meet present conditions was understood to have been the topic of a conversation between the chief executive and Attorney General Mitchell at an after luncheon conference at the white house.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, a champion of the dry cause, called to congratulate Mr. Hoover on his inauguration, and especially on that section dealing with law enforcement. The Idaho senator said it was his impression that the president had made substantial progress in selecting the personnel of the commission.

Nothing Definite.

While Mr. Hoover may have some men in mind, it was stated at the executive offices that he had made no definite selections. The composition of the commission is expected to be agreed upon at a second conference which the president will hold with Attorney General Mitchell and other of his advisers.

A delegation representing 31 temperance and prohibition organizations called to present a testimonial hand-to-hand petition to the chief executive. The group also facilitated him upon his inauguration, promising him their support in the discharge of his duties.

Two names for solicitor general of the United States to succeed William D. Mitchell, the new attorney general, were presented during the day.

NO INQUEST PLANNED IN DEATH OF SLATES

Lawyer and Wife Took Poison by Mistake, Coroner Donehoo Decides.

W. R. Slates, widely known lawyer and his wife, both of whom died suddenly Tuesday night, were the victims of poison mistake for medicine. Coroner Paul Donehoo decided Wednesday. No inquest will be conducted, the coroner said.

The Slates, both 34 years old, were found desperately ill in their apartment at 519 Pullman street, S. W. by Mr. Slates' brother, George W. Slates. The brother told him that Mrs. Slates had informed him that both she and her husband had come ill from the contents of a box marked "sodium nitrate." The coroner added that he considered the statement of Mrs. Slates the statement of an eyewitness and that further investigation was unnecessary.

Double funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Slates will be at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Spring Hill chapel of the Patterson company.

BLACKHALL CLUB URGES FRANCHISE FOR NATURAL GAS

Consideration of the pending petition for a franchise for natural gas in Atlanta formed the principal topic of discussion at the recent regular meeting of the newly organized Blackhall Civic club at the Perkinson school.

After considerable discussion a resolution was passed calling attention to the petition of the Atlanta Natural Gas company for permission to install mains to serve the city with natural gas and the fact that before outlying sections could be served the city of Atlanta would have to give up its franchise. The resolution further set forth that the use of natural gas for heating purposes would eliminate the smoke nuisance in Atlanta and result in a cheaper gas rate. The mayor and council were requested to act favorably on the petition.

The Blackhall Civic club is a newly formed organization of citizens living in the lower end of the tenth ward and the outlying section immediately adjacent to that ward.

The meeting was presided over by Jere A. Wells, superintendent of county schools and newly elected president of the club.

Child's Home Gets Frigidaire Gift From Local Branch

A nine-cubic-foot Frigidaire Wednesday afternoon was installed in the Atlanta Childs' home on Hightower road as a gift of the Frigidaire corporation through its Atlanta branch, of which E. H. Danforth is manager. The beautiful and useful gift to the little organization of charitable institution was made through Circle No. 9 of the home, composed of prominent Atlanta women who are active in the service of the home. Mr. Danforth and other officials of the Frigidaire corporation were present and expressed pleasure at being able to make a worthy cause with a gift which will protect health and afford delicacies for the children in the home. Members of Circle No. 9 in turn thanked the Frigidaire corporation for its interest and its generous gift to the unfortunate.

IMPRISONING THE PEOPLE.

The parks committee of city council has ordered all golf courses, swimming pools, the Battle of Atlanta cyclorama, amusement and recreational centers, including refreshment stands, in the parks of the city to be closed on Sundays.

That will be disastrous and largely engaging news to the mass of Atlanta citizens. The parks committee has been strangely ill-advised to take such summary action, and it is to be hoped that the committee, at a meeting called by the chairman, will consider the situation, will speedily find a solution of the matter.

The law of Georgia for the orderly protection of the Sabbath day of rest, if it can be safely interpreted to authorize and uphold such an inhibition of the natural rights of men, women and children, will remit our people to the Puritan tyrannies of old Salem and imprison them as in an internment camp bounded by the corporation lines.

The reading that this committee order gives to the Sunday law of the state is forced and fanatical.
It is not the reading which the Christ gave to the fourth commandment, but the reading which churchmen doctors of the law have given in less enlightened times to a commandment which they dared to enlarge and stretch far beyond its inspired intentions.

We do not stop to discuss the plaguey subject of "blue laws," because the Georgia Sunday statute is not a blue law by a long shot. It is a statute designed to be conservative of the day of rest—which is the only use of the day the state can constitutionally consider—in the interest of public rights and public order.

No one with a worthy opinion wants a wide-open, commercialized and riotous Sunday in Atlanta. The record of the people's conduct on that day during our whole history repudiates any such suggestion.
But to shut the whole population away from the parks and their facilities for Sunday rest, recreation, innocent exercise and amusement, and the historic information of the battle cycloramas is to outrage common sense and enrage the common ideas of equitable rights.

In the implications of this new ostracism of the south the democratic critics of Secretary Mellon might well have swerved the aim of their guns from him to the larger and more ominous target of another glaring sectional and prejudicial republican administration.

HON. THOMAS TAGGART.

The death of Hon. Thomas Taggart, of Indiana, yesterday at Indianapolis, will cause sincere sorrow throughout the nation.

"Tom" Taggart, as he was famously known, was Irish-bred and with the peculiar bent of that race for political adventures, he became an aspiring and adept politician—but not solely a local political power, for he developed many of the qualities of a progressive and prophetic statesman.

By his personal magnetic attractions and his shrewd political skill he became a real Warwick in country, city and state successively, and as a democratic national committeeman for sixteen years, he was one of the foremost influences in that council of the national party. His brief service in the United States Senate was all to his honor in wise and patriotic performance.

Mr. Taggart was a man of high principles, honest convictions, and integrity in every personal and public engagement. He was one man whose word was his bond" as strictly as any man's ever was. He bound his friends to him with bands of steel and to them he was a very flower of loyalty.

He led his party successfully in Indiana for many years and to him it is indebted for the national services of such men as Senators Shiveley and Kern, and Vice President Thomas R. Marshall. His passing is a distinct loss to Indiana and the national democracy.

Nothing was said in the reports of the inaugural about the electoral college yell.

March played a dual trick, coming in as a lion and a sea lion.

Those jewelry robbers on the east coast of Florida are getting so bold that they will next steal Palm Beach, the gem of the ocean.

SNIPING THE WRONG PARTY.

Those senators in congress who are shooting virulent criticisms against Secretary Mellon and his conduct of the national treasury are sniping the wrong party.

As a democratic journal The Constitution holds no defense attorneyship for Secretary Mellon and has not hesitated to comment upon his administration as it called for favorable or unfavorable judgment. But looking through his official record of the past eight years as the conductor of the nation's finance department, candor and justice award him the credit of having discharged his always critical duties with consummate skill and indubitable patriotism.

The senatorial critics in both parties accuse Secretary Mellon of having large business interests throughout the nation. That he has been a famously successful business man in the past no one denies.
That an adept business man should conduct the national treasury department no one should deny. And Secretary Mellon's fiercest critics shun the fine duty of explaining what an able business citizen having a near billion dollars of wealth should do with that billion dollars when called to conduct the national treasury. Should he withdraw it from business, shorten operating capital, draw the life-blood from large industries, cause the discharge of armies of profitably employed work people, and tie his billion dollars up in non-taxable, square bonds? They do not tell us!

What our democratic snipers, shooting at Mellon, missed is the splendid opportunity to fire 75-centimeter shells into the republican policy which, in cabinet-making, has put the great south practically out of the union! That constitutes a genuine injustice, not so much to the democrats of this region as to the able and reputable republicans who have been loyal to their party without reward or the hope thereof.

Southern democrats are not seeking or expecting official emoluments from President Hoover's administration. They did hope, in common with southern republicans of the highest repute and patriotism, that President Hoover, with the democratic solid south broken in his favor, would have the spirit and courage to count the south as once more a part of his country. He could have made that proof by naming among his advisors some one of the many eminently qualified republicans living between Washington city and the Rio Grande. Having supported his candidacy against strong traditions and heavy odds,
it is not the reading which the Christ gave to the fourth commandment, but the reading which churchmen doctors of the law have given in less enlightened times to
a commandment which they dared
to enlarge and stretch far beyond
its inspired intentions.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Almost a Cannibal.

NOT long ago I wrote something in criticism of sons and daughters who neglect their parents or give them charity and take away their freedom and self-respect.

An unhappy young woman who endures unwilling martyrdom wrote to remind me that all moot questions have two sides.

Certainly this one is no exception.

Age does not change human nature, and parents who are petted too much become spoiled as children do.

Because they receive much, they begin to think themselves entitled to everything; and their selfishness gives no thought to the pleasure or convenience of those who so dutifully serve them.

Nor are they content to sit with folded hands and bestow reluctant words of approval while their benefactors fetch and carry for them and make anxious effort to avoid criticism.

They not only get service by gorging themselves with self-pity and holding forth on the subject of "duty," but they grow further and assume that a proper sense of duty requires sons and daughters to surrender their own opinions and suppress their individuality and do the will of their parents as they did in childhood.

Son must not be too good to his wife, for that would hurt mother's feelings; and daughter must not train her children as she wishes to train them, for that would break mother's heart.

There are such cases—many thousands of them—as there are thousands of "old maids" who have given up all thought of a normal life because "mother can't get along" without them.

Parents are vain and selfish creatures, but these faults do not result from the childlessness of age.

Young parents are equally blinded by self, and endeavor to fashion their child in their own image and suppress its individuality.

They know themselves imperfect, and yet they establish themselves as models and say to the child: "Become in all ways as we are."

I do not mean to intimate that the child should grow as a weed does, without cultivation, training or pruning.

As a rule the child turned loose to "develop its individuality" is a spoiled and impudent brat sorely in need of spanking.

But common sense and common justice demand that the child be given opportunity to be itself—to develop according to its own nature, which is unlike any other.

To warp the child's nature to make it match that of its parents is no less cruel than warping its body would be.

And to use "love" and "duty" as weapons to deprive sons and daughters of the right to live their own lives is to join hands with those who use patriotism and religion to cloak their abominations.

Health Talks

A WEE BIT' O' SUNSHINE'S ENOUGH.

Recent studies indicate that much smaller rations of cod liver oil than we have believed necessary are adequate to prevent or to cure rickets in babies.

For the benefit of unfortunate citizens who do not get reliable and accurate news concerning health developments let us mention here, with apology to our regular readers, that plain cod liver oil contains a mysterious substance or influence called Vitamin D which is essential for the prevention of rickets. Cod liver oil is not an universal custom, not an old Spanish one, to provide for even babies, whether he relies upon a cow or a nice kind lady or even a factory for a sufficient, inexpensive and safe source of Vitamin D.

Mrs. Lanford Says Results of Sargon Were Remarkable; Gains 8 Pounds.

I have finished my third bottle of Sargon Soft Mass Pills, have gained eight pounds and feel better than I have in seven years. When I first thought of taking this treatment my children had little faith in it, but after the wonderful benefit I mentioned from it, they now tell me. Don't forget your Sargon, mother. It will help me remember the hours I

MRS. S. L. LANFORD.

About seven years ago I commenced to lose energy and strength and gradually became generally run-down. As the medicines and treatments I had taken didn't give me any permanent benefit, my condition grew worse. I lost weight, my appetite was poor, I didn't seem to enjoy any food I ate. I couldn't eat heavy foods without suffering terribly from indigestion. My food would sour, violent pains would come in my stomach and extend up into my chest, and I was weak all the time. I had to give up having to live on milk and other liquids. The lack of proper well-digested food, undernourished me of course, and I became very weak, nervous and irritable. I got very little sound, restful sleep, and during the day I was tired and at times almost exhausted.

I knew of no process or treatment that could get a powerful, reconstructive tonic, something that would not only relieve my ailments but that would enrich my blood and build up my strength. And that is exactly what the Sargon treatment has done for me. It has taken only three months of this wonderful medicine, but I feel like a different person. I sleep good at nights, my color is better, showing that my blood has been enriched. I eat hearty meals and enjoy and digest them. It is remarkable the way my strength and energy have returned. And what relief it is to be free of nervousness! My friends notice the difference in my appearance and tell me how much better I am looking.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are mild, but dependable. I consider them a very important part of the treatment. They are sterilized, mix liver without purging or mucus. It is a pleasure for me to let others know what great benefit I have gotten from this splendid treatment."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Sybil L. Lanford, well-known and highly esteemed resident of 730 Oak street, S. W.

A special Sargon representative can be seen daily at Jacobs' main store, 6 and S. Marietta street, where he is meeting scores of Atlanta men and women who wish to learn more about this celebrated new medicine. Sargon may also be obtained from all Jacobs' stores throughout Atlanta.—Jadur.

STATE GETS $879,500 RIVER, HARBOR MONEY

Georgia Shares in $41,587,960 To Be Spent On Waterways in Year.

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—Allocations of $41,587,960 for river and harbor improvement and maintenance for the year beginning July 1 were announced today by the secretary of war.

The amounts were larger in some cases and smaller in others than those indicated last December when $50,000 was estimated as being what could profitably be expended during the fiscal year.

The allotments include the following in Georgia: Savannah harbor, Ga., $600,000; Savannah river below Augusta, Ga., $12,000; waterway between Beaufort, S. C., and St. John river, Fla., $10,000; Ogeechee and Altamaha and Ocmulgee rivers, Ga., $25,000; Brunswick harbor, Ga., $100,000; Saltillo river, Fla., $2,500.

Mr. Firestone stopped over in Atlanta yesterday on his way back to Akron from Miami Beach.

Questioned in regard to the plans of his company in connection with the possibility of any southern building projects, Mr. Firestone declined to make any definite statement except that a large number of southern cities had invited inspection of various locations for the construction of new plants and that these requests were being complied with as fully as possible.

No Definite Plans.

"I can't say that we have any definite plans for the immediate future," he declared, "but we have received data from approximately 50 chambers of commerce and all this information will receive our careful attention. As far as any new plants are concerned, it is a question of a matter of business. If it develops that we can manufacture more cheaply in the south than anywhere else, we undoubtedly will move south."

Mr. Firestone is intensely interested in the idea of "master service stations which can render all kinds of automobile service from oiling, tire repair and replacement, washing, lubricating, brake adjustment, wheel adjustment, spare parts, and, in fact, everything that an automobile needs. A number of these stations already have been established in the southeast and he stated that a start would be made in the very near future on a master service station for Atlanta.

Dinner at the Club.

At the dinner given at the Capital City club in Atlanta, which tickets were made by Governor Hardman, who welcomed the distinguished guests to Georgia, by Clark Howell, Sr., in chief of the Atlanta press; by Mayor Roscoe, and by Messrs. Firestone, Sr., and Jr. The latter made a most interesting statement of the rubber development inaugurated by his father, Elbert, and continued by Harvey Firestone, Jr., in charge.

One hundred and twenty-five American boys are directing the work of between ten and fifteen thousand native laborers. Thirty thousand acres are already in cultivation in rubber, and twenty thousand additional acres will soon be brought in, he said. It usually takes five years for a tree to bear a crop of rubber from new trees, but so successful has been this experiment and so well is Liberia adapted to rubber culture that it is expected that production will be under way within two years, he stated.

Mr. Firestone, Sr., paid tribute to Atlanta and to Georgia, and said that a most important trend has been established in the south. If all the claims as to its advantages could be substantiated.

Leaves for Carolina.

Mr. Firestone and his party left at midnight Wednesday for Charlotte, N. C., where another tour of inspection will be made, following which he will return to Akron.

In addition to Mr. Firestone, the honor guests at the dinner included Harry Clegg, Jr., a member of the board of directors of the company; Russell Firestone, another son of Mr. Firestone, who is general manager of the factory in Los Angeles and head of the real estate department; J. W. Thomas, vice president and general manager of the company; S. C. Carson, treasurer; E. C. Johnson, Jr.; W. B. Baker, vice president and general manager of the Firestone Steel Products company, and James D. Newton, secretary to Mr. Firestone.

Those who were invited to attend the dinner Wednesday night included R. M. Niel, branch manager of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company; B. G. Grimes, manager of the Atlanta Motor company; Robert Martin, president of the Martin Nash company; S. C. Costley, of the Chevrolet Motor company; Governor L. G. Hardman; Major I. N. Ragsdale; E. R. Black, governor of the First Reserve bank; John K. Otter, president of the Fourth National bank; A. J. Orme, president of the Atlanta commission; Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power company; Robert T. Jones, Jr.; H. H. Alexander, manager of the Buick Motor company; Ronald Ransom, president of the Atlanta Building Association; J. A. Harris, of the Harris Run and Wheel company; T. K. Glenn, president of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank; A. G. Maxwell, vice president of the Citizens and Southern National bank, and J. S. Battle of Restaurants CHILD'S CHAIN OWNERSHIP DISPUTED Madison Square Feature

BY W. W. CHAPLIN, Associated Press Staff Writer.
New York, March 6.—In a building on Madison square, which until recent years rang with the cheers of fight fans in the old garden, two white-haired gladiators in the realm of high finance will clash tomorrow in a battle for control of the Childs chain.

One of the principals in the contest is William Childs, fighting to retain active management of the company he founded with his brother 40 years ago. The other is William A. Barber, former attorney general of South Carolina and a figure long high in the ranks of the restaurant company, who wants to oust Childs and all his family from the business bearing their name.

Mr. Barber, or more technically the group of large stockholders which he actually though not nominally heads, charges Mr. Childs with wasteful, unprofitable management of the company. When these "adverse influences" shall have spent their resources he assures the stockholders Childs restaurants, under his management, will have survived by their fitness.

Childs brings counter-charges against Barber and his associates that they are attempting to identify him with the company's misfortunes.

He attributes declining profits to "natural causes," among which he numbers inclement weather, industrial reactions such as the Ford shutdown, ocean travel, the plenitude of money, increasing competition resulting from prohibition, and the growing use of the automobile.

When these "adverse influences" shall have spent their resources he assures the stockholders Childs restaurants, under his management, will have survived by their fitness.

Mr. Childs professes optimism about the outcome of the battle of proxies at the company's annual meeting to be held Saturday, April 14, when he expects to be elected president.

New Jersey Mills Company To Move Entire Holdings To Georgia Immediately

Brighton Corporation To Spend $200,000 for 125 New Homes at Shannon, Near Rome.

Rome, Ga., March 6.—(Special)—The entire holdings of the Brighton Mills corporation, at Passaic and Allwood, N. J., will be moved immediately to Floyd county, to the site of the Southern Mills company at Shannon, it was announced tonight by James K. Morrison, president of the company.

The large factory buildings at Allwood and Passaic, N. J., have been let out on long-time leases and the movement of all machinery in them to Shannon, Ga., has already begun. The Allwood plant's office has been leased to the DeForest Radio corporation and the Fokker Aircraft corporation.

Mr. Morrison said that the Shannon, Ga., plant capacity had just been doubled and would care for the situation at present. The plant now employs 700 men, this will increase to 1,000. The total capitalization of the corporation is $6,000,000. Mr. Morrison stated that 125 new houses would be constructed at once at a total cost of $200,000. The executive offices of the corporation, he said, would not be moved to Shannon at first, but it is estimated that it would be done within two months.

No announcement was made as to additional floor space. However, it was stated that the concentration of the entire holding of the company would necessitate enlargement of the factory plants at Shannon to a large extent.

Mr. Morrison and four of his directors from New Jersey were in Shannon over the weekend on an inspection trip. The directors besides Timothy J. Kelly, vice president, who already is making his home in Shannon and is engaged in other business interests, were H. C. Whitehead, W. L. Lyall, Percy S. Young and H. J. Lyall. Agents and operative heads will come to Shannon at once, it was stated.

Mr. Morrison said that the Brighton Mills company would continue its policy of moving its labor from Floyd county and this section and that positively no labor would be brought from New Jersey.

HUNGRY YOUTHS READY TO RETURN TO STATE SCHOOL

After walking for three days and nights and being virtually without food during that time, three boys who said they escaped last Sunday from the State Training School at Marion, S. C., came to their mother's home Wednesday and requested Desk Lieutenant J. A. Scott to send them back to the South Carolina institution.

After being furnished a meal by the lieutenant and emergency patrolmen, the trio gave their names as Lester Harris, Robert Polk and V. R. Ross.

Authorities at the training school were notified of the boys' apprehension, but no orders as to their disposition had been received by police shortly before midnight.

RAIL AND HIGHWAY TRAFFIC TIED UP

Milledgeville, on the Ocmulgee and Occonee, they added, better conditions in the outlook and estimated that normal traffic could be possible on all roads within 24 more hours.

Freight Train Crashed.

On the heels of news that a freight train had plunged through a bridge near Macon without injury to its crew and that the Dixie highway had again become impassable, a predicted 36-hour period of sunshine began again. The outlook brightened accordingly. The highway department expected further trouble with the Dixie highway. Supervisor Cook said here today, but route 7 was being used as a detour south of Macon and was likely to hold out for another 24 hours until repairs could be made on the main highway or a more direct detour located.

Meanwhile, lowland farmers in spots along the Flint valley were still marooned or out of their homes awaiting recession of the high water. Crop damage was severe along the Chattahoochee, Flint, Ocmulgee and Occonee rivers. Its extent, however, had not been estimated by competent authorities.

The Southern railway announced at 3:30 p. m. today that although it was still using Central of Georgia tracks between Atlanta and Macon, that its main line from Macon to Valdosta had been opened for use. The line from Macon to Jesup on the Southern, another route to Florida, went out today.

ALABAMA RIVER STILL ON RAMPAGE.

Montgomery, Ala., March 6.—(P)—The Alabama river today was the only large river in the state threatening higher marks. Weather Observer P. H. Smyth stated, and it was expected to make a stand here either late today or early tomorrow at 48 feet. At 4:30 p. m. reading the gauge showed a depth of 46.7 feet, the highest mark the river had reached during the recent siege of heavy rains.

Fifty miles west at Selma the Coosa was tumbling over the 49-foot mark, a rise of 1.7 feet since last night. It was expected to reach a crest of 50 feet there. Flood stage at both Montgomery and Selma is 35 feet.

At Wetumpka the Coosa river was receding after attaining the 49-foot mark of 24 feet was reached on Friday last. The river, which had been almost out early today and was believed to be due in part to lowering of gates at dams operated by the Alabama Power company on the Coosa.

The Tombigbee, Black Warrior and Tallapoosa rivers were reported to be near a stand today and were expected to begin falling slowly by nightfall.

The state highway department reported that crews were rapidly restoring roads and highways which in many places had been submerged by the flood waters. Colonel W. A. Finnell, director of the state highway department, stated that most of the state's roadways would be open to traffic by tomorrow night. Highways most seriously affected by the flood waters were those connecting Montgomery with Mobile, Atlanta and Selma.

Dams, running hit or miss the last three days, were gradually regaining normal schedules, only minor washouts across the Georgia line near West Point causing delays.

The river report at 7 a. m. follows: Tallapoosa at Millstead, Ala., 33.7 feet; Coosa at Rome, 24.1 feet; Coosa at Gadsden, 22.4 feet; Coosa at Wetumpka 46.7 feet; Alabama at Montgomery 46.7 feet; Alabama at Selma 49.1 feet.

BAINBRIDGE READY TO EVACUATE.

Bainbridge, Ga., March 6.—(Special)—Although Flint river is at 31.7 today and slowly approaching the danger mark of 35, West Bainbridge holds its calm as it continues business as if nothing unusual was going on at its very door.

Housewives and shopkeepers in the little industrial village claim they are ready to evacuate and without any danger of serious loss to them this time. Things are well under command so far as prevention of damage to lumber and animal life are concerned.

There is a wide spread of lowlands the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad, who was plunged into the flood this morning when the trestle gave way at Boggy creek, was still a local hospital tonight under observation. Exposure to the cold water of the flood was his greatest danger, doctors stated.

A. C. Everett, engineer, was taken to his home and was not hurt, it was declared.

The men leaped from their locomotive, which was the second of a "double-header" pulling a freight train from Macon, when Boggy creek bridge collapsed. The first locomotive got away safely. The second engine tore loose from the first locomotive and descended into the stream. Breaking of the air line automatically set the brakes and saved the rest of the train, it was stated.

Boggy creek is a short distance from the channel of the Ocmulgee river. The creek is spanned at that point over such a wide territory that the two streams are now one.

WAYNESBORO REPORTS BRIAR CREEK RAMPAGE.

Waynesboro, Ga., March 6.—(Special)—Briar creek is on a rampage in Burke. The bridge at Keyville is washed away. The creek is over the Seven Bridges on the Hephzibah road, a 20-foot spill on the new road to Augusta on the Burke side of the big bridge which will cost considerable money to rebuild. All the roads to Augusta were closed late Wednesday afternoon.

ALTAMAHIA THREATENS DAMAGE NEAR LYONS.

Lyons, Ga., March 6.—(Special)—The Altamaha river was reported here as six inches below the bridge approach stringers and a three-foot rise is expected within a few hours.

Seven householders have been removed from their homes, including Toombs and Appling county convicts, Hiram Clifton turpentine workers and highway maintenance crews, are working day and night to prepare for the crest.

No other water damage has been reported. All roads are said to be open in the county.

OCMULGEE RISING AGAIN AT MACON.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—(P)—With the Ocmulgee river here again rising slowly tonight and registering 24.9 feet at 6 o'clock, the highest during the day, railroad and highway repair crews were fighting desperately to keep the water from flooding roads that had been closed by the flood.

Waters from Covington district, the bureau announced, were causing the high water tonight. The new crest will pass during the night and then the water will rapidly recede, it was stated.

The Ocmulgee river here reached 26 feet last week and while that stage has not been reached this week, the conditions are much worse at some points, railroad officials reported.

The situation on the railroad briefly is this:

Mr. Dublin and Savannah rail road closed for through traffic because of collapse of trestle, three miles from Macon, through which a locomotive fell this morning. Repairs will be completed on the trestle Thursday and locomotive will be recovered later. The Georgia and Florida division of the Southern railway from Macon southward was reopened at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The Macon-Brunswick division of the Southern railway was closed during the day, because of high water south of here, and trains are detained.

The Macon-Atlanta division of the Southern railway has been closed all day and again tonight, trains coming through from Atlanta over the Central of Georgia railway.

Conditions along the Central of Georgia railway are rapidly improving, it was announced, and all lines will be in operation before daylight, it was declared.

The Savannah division has been cut by two washouts for two days, but the right-of-way for Savannah will be routine over that division, leading here at 2:10 a. m., it was stated.

The Columbus-Brunswick-American division of the Central of Georgia railway, closed for several days, was reopened late tonight.

BAY LINE STEAMERS SEARCH FOR LIQUOR

Coast Guard Head Issues Statement Explaining Activities.

Norfolk, Va., March 6.—(P)—New Bay line steamer liquor raid was reported to coast guard headquarters today by the patrol force which for three successive days has searched Baltimore-Norfolk bound steamers and found liquor aboard. Captain Philip Scott, division commander at division, issued a statement that the coast guard would continue to search any and all Bay steamers and any other vessel which might be transporting whisky.

We board vessels every day, many of them, and while we can't constantly board all ships hereabouts every day, we do board each craft several times a year," the commandant explained. "We have to inspect each particular vessel we take, especially pains to keep on having a look at that particular craft. But there is nothing unusual about it at all. It is the regular everyday round of work and no day passes but the coast guard boards some ship in Hampton Roads waters."

2 IMPORTANT PAPERS VETOED BY RAGSDALE

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Wednesday vetoed several papers sent to him by city council for approval.

One provided $50,000 for elimination of the off-set where the Central avenue approach to the new viaduct intersects Decatur street and joins Ivy street.

In voting the paper, Mr. Ragsdale declared that City Attorney James L. Mayson has ruled that the viaduct proper stop at the southern boundary of Decatur street, that some of the property which must be acquired for elimination of the off-set is on the northern side of the street and that, therefore, bond viaduct money cannot be used for its acquisition.

The other important paper which met with executive disapproval authorized payment of $26,250 as the 1929 payment on the 430-acre Pershing tract, known as Ragsdale park.

The matter is in the courts and he would not sanction any move to pay out funds while the case is still pending.

Several unimportant sewer papers also were disapproved.

Two minor contracts providing for installation of plumbing and heating in 10 Atlanta schools and thus closed a controversy of several months standing as to the award of the work.

All other council papers also were approved.

Reorganization of G. O. P. In Georgia Is Expected After Committee Session

National Body Refuses
To Elect Committeeman
From State; South To Be Organized.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, March 6.—Complete reorganization of the republican party in Georgia is expected to follow the action of the republican national committee here today in deciding to elect a national committeeman for the state.

The executive committee of the national organization met this morning for the purpose of taking up the contest over the Georgia national committee, along with one or two other remaining states. An all-day closed session lasting more than two hours announcement was made by Chairman Hubert Work that the situation remained unchanged. He declined to elaborate on this cryptic statement and a formal release issued later from national committee headquarters failed to make mention of the case.

All of this was taken to mean that officials of the national organization are disposed to soft pedal the fight among the various factional leaders in the state over the national committeemenhip.

At the same time it was interpreted as meaning that there will be no

"B-C" Will Stop Any Headache In 3 Minutes

Realizing that no drug can adequately conquer all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina druggist has found a combination of five ingredients which function together and give immediate, complete and safe relief of any kind of a headache, neuralgic, sciatic or rheumatic pains, quietes the nerves and leaves you normally buoyant with no side effects or bad after-effects.

This combination of pain-relieving ingredients may be found at any drug store under the name "B-C" respectively. In curing those sick, racing headaches in the minutes, "B-C" is the most amazing preparation of its kind I have ever seen and is guaranteed harmless by the maker.

republican national committeeman from Georgia for some time, possibly not until the next national convention meets in 1932. In view of the new office, plans under consideration are understood to contemplate the election of a national committeeman to represent the several southern state's organization to function in dispensing federal patronage under the new Hoover administration. While complete details of the program are lacking for the moment, it will probably call for the appointment of commissioners, each representing the various charmanies of which will be given a voice in filling federal offices within their territory.

Organize Committee.

In addition it would not be surprising to see a select state committee organized to serve as something of a referee body in all patronage matters, the select committee sharing authority with the several district chairmen. A formal announcement of the plan, which will apply to most if not all of the southern states, is expected to be forthcoming within a few days.

As for the national committeemanship, the executive committee of the national organization had been directed to consider the selection of G. F. Flanders of Swainsboro, who was chosen to succeed former National Committeeman Ben Davis, Atlanta negro leader.

Davis failed of reelection at the Kentucky City convention when members of the Georgia delegation withdrew from his candidacy. Later he withdrew from the picture and the state committee at a meeting held in Atlanta, designated Flanders as national committeeman-elect.

The local group of the Atlanta meeting which failed to nominate him to have been questioned before the national organization here by Roscoe Pickett of Jasper, former state chairman, who contended that a rump convention held at Macon at the same time had a majority of the state committee members prepared to show, however, that he had some 53 of the 70 odd committee men in attendance at his conclave.

Case Passed Over.

All of this was to have been considered by the executive body of the national organization, but it was passed down the line from somewhere to pass over the case. Adjustment of the situation will undoubtedly be left to Colonel Horace Mann, manager of the Hoover campaign in the southern states, who has been given the task of organizing a review of consolidating gains registered in the November elections.

During the inaugural ceremonies of the past week, Colonel Mann's office reported from headquarters of the national committee has been the focal point of interest among southern republicans and Hoovercrats here to witness the new president inducted into office. He has been one of the busiest men in Washington, as southerners turned out grandly to the inauguration, which were more in evidence than at any inauguration since the election of the last democratic president, Woodrow Wilson.

COOLIDGE SUBMITS TO FIRST INTERVIEW

Hasn't Been Private Citizen Long Enough To Tell How It Feels.

Northampton, Mass., March 6.—(P)—In the first interview he has given since he left the white house, Calvin Coolidge today indicated that he had not been a private citizen long enough.

Surrounded by a dozen newspapermen and women in the office where he practiced law before he went into the public service, he was pried with questions about his future plans and his feelings now that he is from the burden of his national career.

The former president submitted to the interview only with the understanding that it would be governed by the same conditions which prevailed at his meetings with the correspondents at the white house—that he would not be quoted. During the interview, Mr. Coolidge sat at his desk in his office in the Masonic building and smoked a cigar held in an ivory holder.

He was frankly happy that he could settle down as a private citizen for the first time in 30 years. He said he had been a private citizen since he was removed from public attention as possible. He has no definite plans for the future, except for the writing of a series of magazine articles for which he is now working.

EVANGELINE BOOTH MET BY LARGE CROWD Over Thousand Salvation Army Workers Greet Com- mander on Return.

New York, March 6.—(P)—Nearly a thousand Salvation army workers met Evangeline Booth, commander in chief of the army in America, when she returned to the line yesterday from England, after taking part in the meeting of the high council which deposed her brother, General Bramwell Booth, as world commander in chief.

Miss Booth appeared tired from the council meeting. She said that her brother's position had made every step of the council doubly difficult for her because of her love for him.

Advanced age and inability to perform duties, however, made it expedient that he be removed, she said, adding that she now operates in 40 countries and the man or woman at the head of such a great organization must be strong of body and strong of mentality.

"I have great love for my brother. He was the eldest of my brothers and he became ill before I was born. I am his first big work. It was cruel to impose him upon me longer the responsibility for a task that he could not perform. If I would have let me see him I am sure I could have explained everything," she said.

One comment to her, she said, was that she had received "no word from him personally what he did not desire to see me."

SUED FOR DIVORCE, DEFENDANT KILLS SELF AT MEMPHIS

Memphis, Tenn., March 6.—(P)—C. L. Gilmer, defendant in a divorce case, swallowed poison just outside the hospital a few minutes later. Gilmer was in the court room when Judge Sam Taubenthal ordered him to stand. He slipped out of the door, took a bottle of poison from his pocket and drained the contents. His only words was "good-bye."

RADIO-ING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

A group of seven of the best-known songs hits of L. Wolfe Gilbert, chosen from nearly 400 he has turned out in the 17 years or more he has been writing them, will be a feature of the Hoover hour program to night over WSB and the N. B. C. at 10:30 o'clock.

Gilbert is an offhand just how many songs he has had published, but he knows it exceeds "three hundred and eight thousand things." A nearly twenty years ago, after he had been in a vaudeville musical act for ten years or so, he started out by writing parodies of then-popular songs for vaudeville use. His first venture into print under his own name with his "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," published in 1912.

Melodies which will be featured on the Hoover hour's Gilbert cycle will include "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," "My Little Dream Girl," "Chitlin' Time," "The Valley," "Don't Wake Me Up, Let Me Dream," "Jeannie" and "Oh, Katherine." A hit of Gilbert's other most popular numbers would include "Hitchy Koo," "Here Comes My Daddy, Old Pop," "Mammy Jiminy's Jubilee," "Camp Meeting Band," "My Sweet Adair," "Shade of Night," "I Miss My Swiss," "What Is It, My Meyer," "Amoena," "You Ought to Laugh, Olah Laugh," "My Mother's Eyes," "Cradle of Love," and "My Angeline

The spirit of humor in music is nowhere better exemplified than in Debussy's "Golliwog's Cakewalk," which has been selected by the Sonora Boys as one of their offerings in the Sonoma hour over the Columbia system this evening at 8:30. The orchestra will also present Mouskowsky's "Bolero" and the always popular "Danse Chinoise" from the "Nutcracker Suite" of Tchaikovsky.

Allan Jones, the American tenor who is a frequent contributor to the Sonoma program is to sing the great artist. Mr. Jones is scheduled to sing Leontovich's beautiful "Vesti la giubba" from "Pagliacci" and the moving "Liebestraum" of Liszt.

A selection by the Mayfair House Salon orchestra and two numbers by the Sonora male trio will complete the program, which will be on the air at 9:30 eastern standard time.

The sponsors of this broadcast, the Sonora Phonograph company of New York, is dedicating the program to the Radio Manufacturers association, of which the company is a member. This is in line with the movement of a number of radio manufacturers each to present one program under the auspices of their association in order to make known the work which it is doing for its members.

The detailed Sonora program follows:

Sonora Symphony Orchestra "Bolero" Moszkowsky

Sonora Male Trio "Mah Lindy Lou" Allen Jones

"Pagliacci" "Vesti la giubba" Leontovich

Mayfair House Salon Orchestra "Nocturnal Tango" Godowsky

Sonora Male Trio "Danse Chinoise" (From "Nut-cracker Suite") Tchaikovsky

Allan Jones "Liebestraum" Liszt

Sonora Symphony Orchestra "Golliwog's Cakewalk" Debussy

Their hurried concert tour of the east over, the Seiberling Singers quartet, who took a month off from broad casting in response to thousands of requests from radio fans to return from behind the microphone, will return to the air at 8 o'clock this evening over WSB and the N. B. C. system.

From their bags and baggage they will bring forth a new vocal arrangement of that orchestral selection familiar to all music lovers, Rubinoff's "Kommunist Ostrom." With the return of the quartet, the Seiberling Singers are reassembled in their original form again. The Singing Violins, who sat back for the month of February and listened to the Seiberling orchestra, will be back and will play a new arrangement of their "Grandfather's Clock."

The complete program follows:

Kamenick Ostrow Rubinstein

Little Boy Blue Tenor Solo

L'Amour Toujours Frim

The Grandfather's Clock, Old English Song Quartet

Forgotten Covell

Serenade Delight

Racquel Quartet

A novelty entitled the "Doll Dance" will be the feature of the hour the Columbians will broadcast over the Columbia system tonight at 9 o'clock.

Freddie Rich, director of the Columbians, will give this number one of those special interpretations for which he is noted. This orchestra, consisting of 37 pieces, is well adapted for the type of novelty, for it has specialized in giving symphonic interpretations to jazz and jazz interpretations to symphonic numbers.

The rest of the Columbians' program will follow out this scheme and

Agness Scott Group

Will Present 'Elijah' On Radio Program

"Elijah," the oratorio by Mendelssohn, will be presented by members of the Agnes Scott Choral society at 9:30 o'clock this evening on the radio program of WSB.

The soprano part will be sung by Miss Mary Buttrick, soprano of Park Street Methodist church. The organ will be played by Mrs. E. Mansfield, of the First Presbyterian church, Decatur. The part of "Obediah" will be taken by Vaughan Omer, tenor of the choir of Central Presbyterian church. Walter Herbert, baritone, will sing the bass part. The accompaniment will be provided by the orchestra of the choir of Agnes Scott, and the work will be directed by Professor Lewis H. Johnson, of the college.

The oratorio was composed during a period of years just preceding 1840 and was performed for the first time in that year, in Birmingham, England, just a few months before the death of the composer. It opens with a dramatic prologue in which Elijah prophesies a shortage of rain in Israel. This is followed by a recitation and aria for tenor, Obadiah calling on the people to repent. The next passage to be presented is the duet for soprano and baritone; Elijah and the widow of Zarephath prevail upon God to restore life to the son of the latter.

The following section of the oratorio contains the dramatic force of the work. It is the familiar scene of the denunciation of King Ahab and the prophet Elijah. The work concludes with a final aria, "Behold thy Son!"

All soloists on the program are pupils of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Johnson.

'Capt. Applejack' Delights Group Of Civilian and Army Contingent

Fort McPherson, March 6.—The production of Walter Hackett's "Captain Applejack," by the Fort McPherson Dramatic club at the Post theater Wednesday evening was a splendid success from the raising of the curtain on the first act in the library of Mrs. Applejohn in her mansion until the final curtain with Ambrose and Poppy in possession of the age-old pirates treasures and happiness. Mrs. Rufus Parsons deserves the greatest credit for the brilliant success of the play for she directed the production and enacted the role of "Anna Yalesky" in forceful and emotional manner.

Her costumes were particularly suited to her type for in the first act she chose an exquisite evening dress of oyster white satin made with a deep V neckline and embroidery in silver and gold, worn with brocaded slippers and an evening wrap of green velvet collared in white fox fur. Her second selection was feet worn with white stockings and black high heel slippers.

The Master Crook.

Captain Robert Joerg, Jr., as the master crook, was particularly well cast in his role for his dynamic and forceful in his characterization of "Ivan," the spy of the czar. In the second act he was dressed as a pirate and aboard the pirate craft he did some bits of real acting, his role calling for a variety of moods. Captain Harry H. Joffe as Mr. Pendar, crook was a well executed role, especially so in the second when, when he appeared dressed as a Chinaman and fought "Ivan" on the ship. His costume was complete from his head to the Chinese slippers he wore. John Foster, the typical American, who could sell anything from a car that would not run to the beautiful Applejohn estate, was splendidly impersonated by Lieutenant U. D. Whatley.

Miss Patria Donahue in the trim black and white of the French maid was a colorful addition to the play, with her part in the first act, while everyone was eager to congratulate the English girl so ably played by Major Harry E. Dieber. His costume with the striped trousers, frock coat trimmed with brass buttons and his dignified bearing made the perfect butler.

The Pirates.

A group of pirates in short trowsers, huge earings, tattered shirts and red bandanas were cleverly played by a number of the enlisted men of the twenty-second infantry, while the role of the youngest pirate was played by Tom Prickett, son of Lieutenant M. Gilbert Proctor.

The post personnel as well as the civilian social circles turned out "en masse" to witness the production. The credible proceeds of the play will be used to swell the coffers of the regimental fund of the twenty-second in-fantry.

Manager Wilbur Good Reports To Take Charge of Crackers

Olsen, Blethen Are on Way To Join Club

Pitchers and Catchers Will Report Monday; Spring Games Announced.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

In from the watery wastes of south Georgia rolled your Uncle Wilbur Good Wednesday morning. Uncle Wilbur, just in case you've forgotten, is to be the guiding genius of the Atlanta Crackers on the diamond this summer, win, lose or draw.

The slightly silent, whimsical Mr. Good, a little thin, say, as becomes the case with him, did say that he, Mrs. Good, Wilbur Jr., and Polly—that's a beautiful female German police dog—had a rather tough time getting up from south Georgia.

He also said that he would reserve comment on his new club until after the training camp schedule begins March 22, with Kid Clay's yellow jackets and the Crackers will be at work then until September 15.

The training camp schedule follows:

March 22-23—Tach.
March 23-24—Athens.
March 24-25—Atlanta.
April 1-2—Toronto.
April 2-3—Montreal.
April 4—Buffalo.
April 5-6—St. Louis Nationals.
April 6-7—New York Giants (Probable).
April 8-9—Boston.
April 11—New York Yankees.
April 12-13—Macon at Macon.

Aliance Basketeers Defeat J. O. Y. Class

Aliance Progressive club's basketeers chalked up another victory on their side of the ledger Wednesday night when they took the J. O. Y. Class for a 22-11 ride on the A. P. C. court.

The Aliance quintet jumped into the lead in the very first and when the gun sounded for the final A. P. C.

led by a 27-2 count, Bodie and Katz starred for the Aliance five, while Thaxton and Jones played best for the losers.

'Cracker a Day' Starts Monday

This season there have been a number of changes made in the Cracker roster, so many in fact, that it will hardly be the same that you remember on the field last year. And of course, we'll want to know who the new ones are, why they're here and what they did last year.

So beginning Monday morning, keep your eye on the sport page and watch for "A Cracker a Day," a feature by Ben Cothran, Constitution sports writer, who will give you an idea of a new Cracker to furnish food for thought.

This feature was conducted last year by The Constitution and you'll have it again this spring, meeting a new Cracker every day.

MISS COLLETT TAKES OPENER BY 8-7 COUNT

St. Augustine, Fla., March 6.—(AP) Miss Glenna Collett, national women's golf champion, showed the way to a mighty field today in the Florida east coast championships. She shot the best individual round to defeat Mrs. Dorothy Bentham, Great Neck, L. I., 8 and 7, in the first match play.

Miss Virginia Van Wie, having trouble with her iron along the way, was able to eliminate Mrs. E. C. Stone, Boston, 6 and 5, while Miss Bernice Wall, Wisconsin state champion, vanquished Mrs. J. Laroque Anderson, Cherry Valley, New York, 4 and 3.

Golfdom's newest star, Miss Helen Hicks, merely joined the gallery to go into the second round, as her opponent, Miss Madge Miller, Detroit, defaulted the first match. Miss Hicks yesterday was runner-up to Miss Wall.

A bright day, with little wind, made playing conditions vastly better than on yesterday, when a rear gale handicapped the golfers.

First work will begin Monday morning when the herd of 16 pitchers and two catchers come thundering in to get a week's jump on the rest of the crew, which will report the following Monday.

Sport Games.

The Crackers will have only a short time to work themselves into shape, for their first schedule begins March 22, with Kid Clay's yellow jackets and the Crackers will be at work then until September 15.

The training camp schedule follows:

Lassman Returns In Good Health

Athens, March 6.—Two Georgia freshman teams won victories in different sports today, the basketball team grabbing its thirteenth victory of the season by defeating Lanier High school, after an extra period, 37 to 33, while the boxers fought Dabholka 4 bouts to 0.

Versus, Varsity Smith played a large part in both victories. He started in the basketball game, as high scorer. Then he practiced football with the spring gridiron squad and tonight he knocked out his man in the heavyweight division in one round and 50 seconds. After that he went home and went to bed, calling it all a day's work.

The fresh Lanier basketball team was exciting to say the least. After the Poets had led, 17 to 16 at the half, Georgia came back to grab an early lead in the second period.

This lead was gradually cut down and with less than a minute to play, Young of the Lanier five tied the score with a field goal.

In the play-off Moran shot two free throws and Strickland ended the scoring by shooting a snowbird. Mountford, Moran and Smith are former Lanier players.

ROLLINSON WINS HIS FIRST MATCH

Ormond Beach, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—R. H. Rollinson, youthful star from the Balsorou Country Club New Jersey, top medalist in the winning round of the Volusia championships, won his first-round match today from R. S. Pomeroy, Madison Ohio, 1 up on the nineteenth green.

They were all even at the end of the first nine and Rollinson was two up the good after the twelfth hole, but immediately birdied a 2 on 13 and an eagle 3 on the fourteenth, which he followed by two more 3s leaving the ultimate victor one down on the seventeenth. Rollinson then and won the seventeenth and after his fourth shot on the eighteenth green left Pomroy, a dead stymie, three strokes from the hole, but insisted on a tiny pitch or Pomroy's putting to prolong the match.

Pomeroy negotiated it skillfully, the ball falling plumb into the cup. Rollinson then took the nineteenth and the match.

J. A. Rankin, Beaconfield, N. Y., shot a parling 77 to gain the decision 2-1 over G. F. Dunwoody, 4 and 2.

A. P. McLean, Troy, N. Y., defeated W. W. Wright, Merion Cricket club, 2 and 1.

William Collingwood, Binghampton, N. Y., gained the decision over Ted Davis, Belfontaine, Ohio, 3 and 2, and L. P. Moore, Canoe Brook, N. J., 3 and 2.

Famous Line Coach of Tech Boards North-Bound Train—Rumors of His Leaving Jacket Staff Become Thicker.

Following his usual tendencies to wander about the city for no reason at all, this correspondent happened to be poking around the Terminal station at noon Wednesday and what did he see but Bill Fincher, Tech's line coach, hoisting his considerable bulk aboard the Crescent Limited.

For all we could gather Mr. Fincher was headed for New York, New York is mighty close to New Haven, Conn., you know, and in that city is located Yale university.

Bill, we expect, is going up for a conference with eastern gridiron powers, and the outcome of this will tell us much more than we can now.

Fincher is a product of Tech, his playing days being back in 1918, when he was elected as an all-American end, although he always played tackle.

Since then Bill has always been on board at Tech but wasn't until some time ago that he was named line coach.

Now, since Tech has won a national championship, the big boys have been sent to him.

And should William be Tech's line coach again next year, we might be able to see him again.

THE MEDBURY FORT MURDER

By GEORGE LIMNELLUS

SYNOPSIS.

Major Hugh Preese, of the Royal Army Medical corps, has just been transferred from Bath to Fort Medbury, which is not far from London. He's about to leave when he sees his wife, wife, and children out riding when Lieutenant Leopold is announced and he has to stay to escort him. Leopold is much easier for you. It's the coming back time after. Eighteen months out, four at home. Don't give you a chance to marry decent at one; 'course the government officials hates us. Says we lowers the prestige of the white man. Ah! They don't have to go to some of the places we go, an' they only do a part of it. But we can't have to bargain with the chiefs and treat 'em perlite like. They're their masters. But you keep off the "mammie palaver," if you can. That's my advice. It marks you."

Preese roused himself from a dumb stupor of despair as the train clattered and bumped over the punts, and like a single-mindedly unimpassioned path through the wharves and sheds until it drew up by the West African mail ship lying alongside the Prince's landing stage.

It was certainly not a setting.

Preese recollects with an inward chuckle, calculatingly, against the dependency of a lovesick young man.

The ship the Timmanne, was little more than two thousand tons displacement; she looked dirty. As the passengers had streamed from the train and across the gangway of the ship, Preese took stock of them. They were singularly unimpassioned lot to be thought. There were only half a dozen women among the eighty odd passengers. Odd was the word!

In the crowded saloon, Preese had found a telegram: "Love and good luck, Prunella." He crushed the flimsy paper in his hand, aware that his mother's wide gaze with stony eyes over the gray river towards the slowly receding shore, could almost have wished she had sent no farewell message. It had been so hard to leave her. "Parting in such sweet sorrow." He grimmed at the pattern of life; yet, it was true. He had by some queer mischance twist of his nature positively enjoyed the ineffable pain of parting. Now, this telegram in his hand probably represented the high water mark of her ability for literary self-expression.

Preese opened his hand and allowed the crumpled flimsy to fall slowly into the lap of the steward. His thought was that. He would write to her, but he would glean nothing from her replies. He would have to guess, to read between the lines. There would be devilish few lines to read between the Timmanne nosing her way into the sun met a strong gale from the west and a cross wind. Preese had sought his cabin—a writhed three-beth-one, haunted by an unpleasant musty odor. It was some days before Preese discovered the significance of this peculiar smell—bed bugs. Thereafter he slept upon the couch.

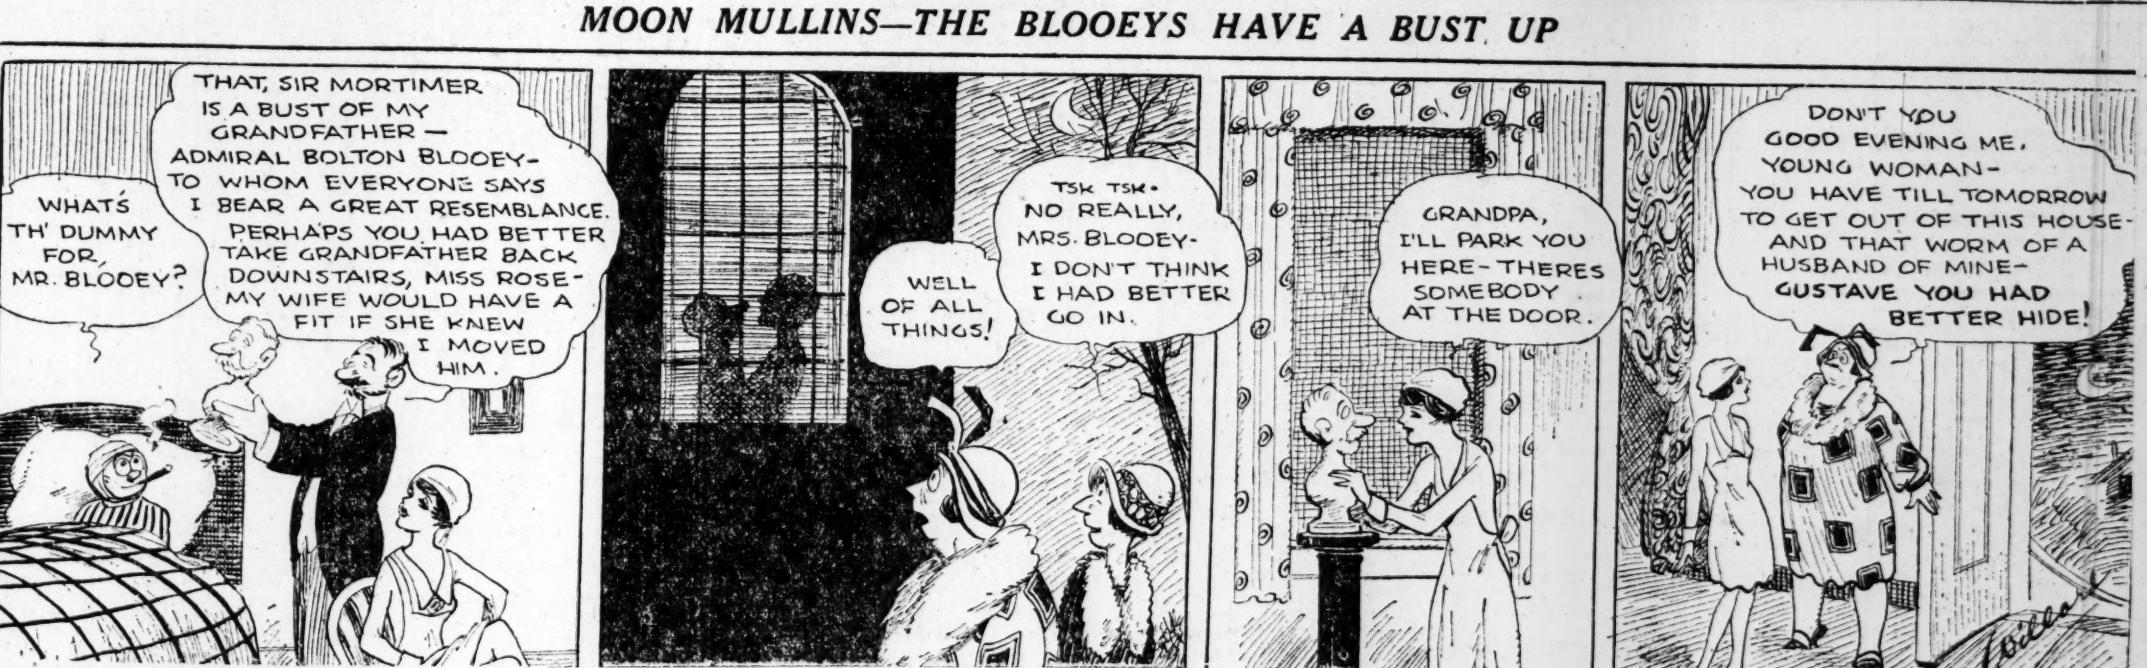

His cabin mate, a morose doctor in the West African colonial service, discouraged any attempts at friendliness. The voyage was one of increasing weariness and monotony. Every one seemed to be sunk in gloom at the prospect of returning to West Africa; the panama croakers, the majority appeared to be alcohol in one form or another. Even this cure did not work too successfully.

At Las Palmas Preese went ashore with a little trader also on his way to Senegal. "I'm in oil," he explained, "up country. Go along all over the country, buy goods from the chiefs and send 'em down to Port Hammo by rail. Never see a white man 'cept a D. C. now and then. Hell of a life!" He glanced at Preese from little, red rimmed eyes: "Palm oil ruffians" they call us on the coast, as we do all the trade there is in the port."

He was quite a decent little man, really. "Mammie palaver," that's the trouble over there," he advised his companion, clutching his arm confidentially as they strolled up the shabby narrow streets of Las Palmas. "Black Satin, eh? Don't you have nothing to do with 'em?" "I'm not black, I'm not degradin', that's what it is." Taint natural, neither. It's difficult though," he vented a brief sigh, "in the long hot nights . . . Way up in a bush village, and you lying sweating in a long chair an' a drum throbber. You don't know whether it's in your head or outside, an' the chief Keith's Georgia.

Cecil B. DeMille's most sensational melodrama, "The Goddess Girl," featuring Lima Basquette and Marie Prevost, is the screen fare being served up at Keith's this week. With Dixie's favorite master of man, in his latest skit, "The Blackville Polar Expedition," furnishes laughs galore in the role of a leviathan on a polar flight. The locale of "The Goddess Girl" is mostly in a reform school, and it reaches a high dramatic climax when the institution is razed by fire.

Loew's Capitol.

"Desert Nights," a tale of the diamond fields of South Africa, with John Gilbert, Mary Nolan and Ernest Torrence in the principal roles, comes straight to Atlanta this week at Loew's Capitol, coming from the home offices of the producers. It is the first showing of the picture in the south. A well-chosen bill of Loew vaudeville supplements the screen attraction, headed by an entertaining tableau, "A Bunch of Tricks."

Howard.

Great in every sense of the word is "Canary Murder Case," which is showing at the Howard this week, with William Powell in the leading role. As a suave, keen and uncanny Philo Vance, the mysterious character called the "modern Sherlock Holmes," created by S. V. T. Darrow, Powell offers a performance of outstanding credit. On the stage Louis Lowry and his Merry Musical Men present "Pleasure Pirates," featuring the Gould Girls, the Paragon Quartet and Louise Du Faye. Also choice novelties are offered on the program.

Metropolitan.

Few pictures since "Way Down East" have had the drama, the emotion and the appeal of "The Tollers," being shown this week at the Metropolitan. In a story of love, hate and sacrifice, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Jobyna Ralston have the leading roles. "The Old Gray Hoss," an Our Gang comedy, with sound, is an Rialto.

Following closely her first Movie, the star of "Music Knew Best," Madge Bellamy returns to the Rialto this week in her second sound and talking opus, "Fugitives," a strong story from the pen of Richard Harding Davis. Also on the bill is Al Abbott, a versatile singer, whose interpretations and characterizations are drawing wide acclaim from Rialto audiences.

Loew's Grand.

Greta Garbo, John Gilbert and a host of other stars of the film world appear on the screen at Loew's Grand theater during the last three days of the week in "A Woman of Affairs," the picture version of Michael Arlen's sensational novel and stage play. It is a thrilling story dramatically portrayed. Selected comedies and current news reels are added attractions.

Cameo.

Flippant Alice White and smiling Jack Mullhall lead the comedies and operates retail stores, specializes in wearing apparel. Acquisition of the L. F. M. Stores brings its retail chain to more than 40 stores.

Alamo No. 2.

Marion Davies a la Hollandeuse and gazing and haunting—is the new Marion Davies in the Cosmopolitan feature, "The Red Mill," now showing at the Alamo theater No. 2. She plays a Holland beauty in pictures and works in a woman's garment adapted from the famous stage play. Own Moore, George Siegman, Louise Fazenda, Smitz Edwards and a big cast supports her in the new vehicle.

Empire.

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, the sensational stars of "Seventh Heaven," are featured again in "Street Angel," which will play for the last times today at the Empire theater, corner Georgia Avenue and Crew street, where it has given for the last two years. The picture, a comedy of the producers, is the first showing of the picture in the south. A well-chosen bill of Loew vaudeville supplements the screen attraction, headed by an entertaining tableau, "A Bunch of Tricks."

Marauder Satisfies Craving for Sweets In Raid on Residence

Burglars, apparently more voracious for sweets than valuables, made night entries into the home of J. G. Farley at 850 Zachary street while the family was attending a theater, and after eating the contents of a three-pound box of chocolates left the residence without taking anything of material value.

Overturning and wrecking furniture and breaking windows, the robbers were set last week in Georgia, according to A. D. Jones, director of the bureau of investigation.

The dogs barked $112,000 and the poultry sales went to $100,000 mark, both figures being high marks for the year, according to the director. Sales were held in cooperation with local county agents.

New York, March 6.—(P)—A further advance on continuation of the recent buying movement was followed by reactions in cotton today under realizing and some southern and local sellers. May contracts after falling up to 21.20, declined to 20.30 in the late trading and closed at 20.34. The general market closed steadily at net declines of 13 to 20 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 13 points to a decline of 5 points. Most cotton buyers and sellers holding prompted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and prospects for improving weather in the eastern belt. Buying continued, however. After the initial realization had been absorbed, prices turned upward on covering or buying, with some trade buying of near months and a further broadening of commission house and Wall street demand. Prices soon made new high ground for the movement. March advanced to 21.18 and the new October contract to 21.18, while July fell to 15 points above yesterday's closing record.

Demand was encouraged by favorable reports from the cotton goods trade and reiterated complaints of delays in farm work as result of recent rains and overflows in the eastern belt, buying becoming rather less active and less aggressive than in previous quarters this was regarded as indicating an easier technical position after the advance of about 172 points from the low prices of last month in May contracts consequently the market became more reactionary during the afternoon.

Trade demand was said to be somewhat active. There was southern sentiment when May may have been influenced by higher call money rates and the stock market. March sold off from 20.30 and the new October contracts 20.11, making declines of some 25 to 30 points for the high levels of the morning. Closing prices were within a point or two of the lowest.

Polymer cables said that local and continental buying had been supplied by firms selling in Liverpool and their distributor in Calcutta were checking business in cotton clubs. They reported more cloth sales for China.

Exports today 49,777, making 6,409,979 this season. Port receipts 13,336. U. S. port stocks 3,191,139.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING ACTIVE

New Orleans, March 6.—(P)—Although trading continued active in the cotton market today values were reactionary under selling by yesterday's buyers who took profits on prospects for clearing weather in the belt. May contracts after trading up to 20.45, reacted 23 points to 20.22, and closed at the latter figure compared with 20.35 in May's session. The general market showed steady at net declines of 11 to 13 points.

The market opened easy in sympathy with disappointing Liverpool cables and first trades showed losses of 4 to 6 points. Offerings were absorbed at the initial subback and the market promptly turned to good buying induced by the bullish showing on the official weekly weather and crop report which indicated retarded preparations for the new crop. May traded to 20.45, July 20.45 and October 20.16, or 10 to 11 points above the previous close.

Later, however, the market weakened again and the recent gains were very much liquidated, contracts on the official predictions of favorable weather in the cotton region. The selling persisted for the remainder of the session and prices reached new lows for the day in final trading when May sold at 20.22, July 20.45 and October 19.94 to 24 to 25 points down from the highs. The close was at the lowest.

BROKEN SIDE ROD WRECKS L. & N. TRAIN

Eight Persons Were Injured
But None Seriously Hurt.

Franklin, Tenn., March 6.—(AP)—A broken side rod on the second engine of a double-header which was bringing train No. 2 of the Louisville & Nashville railroad from Birmingham to Nashville caused the derailment of the engine and eight cars near here last night, railroad officials investigating the wreck announced today. Eight persons were injured, but none seriously.

The cars were thrown against an embankment, but the double-decker passengers safely prevented a more serious wreck. The fireman of the second engine was on the tender when it left the track. He was thrown onto a nearby field and uninjured.

The train was running late and W. B. Oakley, Nashville engineer, said he was trying to make up the lost time.

The engine and cars left the track on a grade near West Harpeth, four miles south of here, about 6:30 p.m. Neither the engine nor cars turned over, but passengers in all sections of the 10-car train were uninjured. The track was damaged the length of the train. Workmen were rapidly clearing away the debris this morning.

The tracks were repaired and traffic was resumed over the line at 9 a.m. today.

Judge Luke's Criticism Of Baptist Convention Answered by A. J. Orme

Hospital Trustees Deny Owing Mrs. Smith Damages; Woman To Appeal Ruling of Court.

Appeal to the state supreme court from the ruling of the court of appeals Wednesday in denying Mrs. M. L. Smith damages of $8,000 against the Georgia Baptist hospital and disownment of Judge Roscoe Luke's caustic criticism of the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist convention.

In reversing decisions of the Fulton superior court, which awarded Mrs. Smith damages, Judge Luke declared the action of the committee in avoiding payment with a plea of "technicalities." Judge Luke is a Baptist and frequently preaches in the pulpits of leading Baptist churches of the state.

Won Damage Suit.

Mrs. Smith won her first suit for damages against the Georgia Baptist hospital and secured a judgment of $8,000 in her favor.

In his special concurrence, Judge Luke said:

"I recognize the natural and salutary rules of law which compel a reversal of this case. However, the facts in the case to my mind fully warrant the remarks I now make.

Action Called "Unthinkable."

It is inconceivable that the corporation which owned and operated the hospital took no part in defending the damage suit. Yet the only defense filed was a denial of the petition which in no way indicated that the defense made available would be made. Now the executive committee lies safely entrenched behind the statute of limitations as far as legal liability is concerned. To my mind it is unthinkable that the offspring of a great Christian denomination should seek to avoid payment of its judgments."

Mrs. Smith won a verdict in Fulton superior court in February, 1927, against the Georgia Baptist hospital for injuries she claimed to have sustained from an administration of ether. On November 3 of that year, Mrs. Smith filed a summons for garnishment of accounts of the Citizens and Southern Bank, the First National, Trust and Savings Bank, the First National banks to the credit of the Georgia Baptist hospital under authority of her judgment. November 5, two days later, Dr. Arch C. Cree, executive secretary and treasurer of the executive committee of the Georgia Convention after rendering his decision in the case of Mrs. Smith against the hospital."

"Further," Mr. Orme said, "it is the opinion of the trustees of the Georgia Baptist hospital that we are not liable to pay the damages awarded Mrs. Smith."

Notice that an appeal would be made from the court of appeals decision was given Wednesday night by J. Caleb Clarke, of counsel for Mrs. Smith, who stated that a writ of certiorari would be filed within the next ten days against the decision denying the damages, followed in quick succession Wednesday night.
